Modeling Industry veteran Paul Fisher is attempting to change the way the modeling world works but changing it from the inside out. The Network is his brainchild; a way to make a conglomeration out of hundreds of smaller modeling agencies to ensure that they don't get taken advantage of or get swallowed by the larger agencies. More importantly he's trying to give models a healthier more reliable atmosphere to grow in. The CW's latest show Remodeled follows Fisher as he visits struggling agencies under his Network umbrella and attempts to help them get back on their feet and become a jewel in the network crown.
