Girl is a 24 year old struggling to make it in the world, with huge ideas about the world and feminism. However she finds herself stuck in a job of filing, organizing, and other minimal jobs and no way to put her education to work. When she is fired though, Girl frantically looks for a job, any job and she is surprised when what appears to be the perfect job comes her way. But Girl slowly finds herself slipping in her morals to keep away from the unemployment line; but how far can she be pushed.
