

Joss Stone back for 'Tudors'

British singer Joss Stone has signed to return to Showtime's drama "The Tudors" for its fourth and final season.

She will reprise her role from the current third season as Anne of Cleves, the fourth wife of Henry VIII (Jonathan Rhys Meyers).

Anne, whose marriage to Henry was annulled after he decided he no longer found her attractive, became the king's confidante and outlived his other five wives.

Stone is repped by Fortitude.

Showtime has beefed up its guest star/recurring ranks the past few weeks, tapping Embeth Davidtz, Kathleen Turner, Ed Westwick, Peter Gallagher, Diane Farr, Eva Amurri and Rick Springfield for "Californication."
